Claims 1-35 are presented for examination.

Applicants' response filed December 17, 2004 has been received and entered.

Accordingly, the rejections made under 35 USC 112, second paragraph and 35 USC 103 in the previous Office action at pages 3-6 are hereby withdrawn.

Claims 3, 4, 8, 10, 12-23 and 27-35 are withdrawn from consideration as being drawn to the non-elected invention (37 CFR 1.142(b)).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 9, 11 and 24-26 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5 and 14-25 of U.S. Patent No. 6,803,376. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the present application teaches a method for modulating metabolism of ciprofloxacin-resistant Streptococcus pneumoniae comprising by administering a composition comprising a gemifloxacin compound; and the patented application teaches a method for modulating of pneumococcal pathogenic bacteria (includes Streptococcus pneumoniae) is ciprofloxacin-resistant. Clearly, the present application is encompassed by the patented application.

Art Unit: 1614

Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 9, 11 and 24-26 are not allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 9, 11 and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

In this regard, the application disclosure and claims have been compared per factors indicated in the decision In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400 (Fed. Cir., 1988) as to undue experimentation.

The factors include:

- 1) the quantity of experimentation necessary
- 2) the amount of direction or guidance provided
- 3) the presence or absence of working examples
- 4) the nature of the invention

Art Unit: 1614

- 5) the state of the art
- 6) the relative skill of those in the art
- 7) the predictability of the art and
- 8) the breadth of the claims

The instant specification fails to provide guidance that would allow the skilled artisan background sufficient to practice that instant invention without resorting to undue experimentation in view of further discussion below.

The nature of the invention, state of the prior art, relative skill of those in the art and the predictability of the art

The claimed invention relates to a method for modulating metabolism of ciprofloxacin-resistant Streptococcus pneumoniae comprising the step of contacting ciprofloxacin-resistant Streptococcus pneumoniae with an antibacterially effective amount of a composition comprising a gemifloxacin compound, or an antibacterially effective derivative thereof.

The relative skill of those in the art is generally that of a Ph.D. or M.D.

The present invention is unpredictable unless experimentation is shown for all gemifloxacin compounds and derivatives are effective in modulating metabolism of ciprofloxacin-resistant Streptococcus pneumoniae.

The breadth of the claims

The claims are very broad and inclusive to all gemifloxacin compounds and/or derivatives.

Art Unit: 1614

The amount of direction or guidance provided and the presence or absence of working examples

The working examples are limited to the administration of gemifloxacin.

No examples showing the administration of other gemifloxacin compounds and/or derivatives as set forth in claims 24-26.

The quantity of experimentation necessary

Applicants have failed to provide guidance as to how the other gemifloxacin compounds and/or derivatives as set forth in claims 24-26 are effective in modulating metabolism of ciprofloxacin-resistant Streptococcus pneumoniae. The level of experimentation needed to determine the other gemifloxacin compounds and/or derivatives as set forth in claims 24-26 are effective in modulating metabolism of ciprofloxacin-resistant Streptococcus pneumoniae is undue. Therefore, undue experimentation would be required to practice the invention as it is claimed in its current scope.

Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 9, 11 and 24-26 are not allowed.
